Consumers of Ink.

The undersigned begs to inform the highly respected community of this city and the country, that he has established an

INK MANUFACTORY.

No. 5½ Calle 25 de Mayo.

And is prepared to sell as good Ink, as any made in any part of the globe, and warrants it to be one of the beautiful jet black color which it has at the moment when used, at 50 p.% less than the same can be bought at any other house.

People under the impression, that they pay higher for a quart of Ink, when they pay less, than the same proved, but most of the Ink sold for English, is made in this country, and imported upon the public as such, at 1 and 1 & 50 per quart, but no one can make Ink for the full consumption of this City & its suburbs under 2 and 3 dollars per quart, as it requires time to make it.

I—It is a very easy task to make an inferior article.

II—Ink of a fine color.

III—Ink of a fancy color.

IV—A good article of Ink, as to its color, consistency, and strength, is not to be obtained, but by forcing their evaporation to a certain degree, which they have written.

For the reasons explained, I hope that my customers will kindly entertain a favorable opinion of my article will be found to be of a fine color, of a proper consistency, and the cheapest in the market.

N. B. Orders at the office will be punctually attended to, and delivered over the counter.

MOCK AUCTION.

In some countries there is a severe penalty on sham auctions, but in Buenos Ayres is above the imputation of such dishonest practices and the knights of the hammer enjoy here an unlimited freedom, as puffing is not contrary to the constitution, and Government itself does a large auctioneering business. As we read bishops and bishops up to the highest bidder, once a year? Is not the saladero tax knocked down like a stereoscope, or Crimean shirt? Does not the municipality license the successful competitor to fleece his fellow citizens in a gambling monopoly of chameleon colored tickets? Are not the screens and gas lamps auctioned off to and little, in one huge and heterogeneous lot?

The system no doubt works well, and we could wish that it were extended to the protection of the frontier, camp reform, city improvements, and peace in the interior. Would there be none to bid for such precious gifts? Perhaps General Mitre may adopt the same method for preserving the Constitution, as is used to keep the London bridge in repair; only there must not be so many holes in the former, or danger of falling through.

At least we venture to suggest that as the firm of Saavedra, Acosta and Dominguez are now winding up business, on the retirement of the senior partner, they should sell off their stock in trade by public, unreserved, auction. We will suppose ourselves in the first court-yard of the Government House. Dr. Acosta mounted on the "rostrum" in midst of a crowd of by-standers, and Snr. Dominguez ringing a bell at the entrance, inviting ladies and gentlemen to step in while the National banner is substituted by a white flag—"selling off, great sacrifice." A collection of ink bottles, mate-cups, cigar-cases, manuscripts and old newspapers is offered, and those who covet articles of great historic reliques, or celebrated autographs, eagerly hang on the lips of the gentleman-at-high position whose bat, supported a brass-candlestick, would assuredly brow reveals an artistic arrangement of the capillary attraction of the Progress of Law.

"The terms of the sale, gentlemen, are, cash; as the firm is retiring from business, and no public securities, such as Western railway shares, or Tarumá bonds, San Juan scrip, etc, can be received either in payment or security."

"Lot 1.—Two dozen pen holders, called styles by the ancient Romans as imparting grace to one's ideas. The lot is valuable, gentlemen, as some have undergone diplomatic service, and the rest are no clean as the note of the San Fernando Railway."

"Two dollars—they are going—" "Thank you, Mr. Jordano, two and a half splendid investment. Two dozen pen-holders, one of which is seen to have been sharpened into a tooth-pick by his Ex. of Finance—sold, by Jove!"

"Lot 2.—Here you have a canny stool, frequently used by Dr Frost in his conferences with the Prime-minister. A nice drawing-room ornament; and we will throw in an old umbrella, very proper for a rude-accasm, but hal nawcesike, you thought it know nothing of Greek. Sol: to Cnjr. Mundilla, for 35 dols."

"Lot 3.—85 mate-cups and 48 tubes, all second-hand; but that is always so much the better in everything musical. Well now, any fancy broker may have this lot for a song——"

"We'll buy—who'll buy? 16 dols.—18, 20, 22, I think Mr Caxon y o said 23; they're yours.

"Lot 4—Here is the identical document of the Juez de Paz of Guardia Monte, offering a dollar for the apprehension of Day's murderer. I hope Mr M. you don't doubt the article is genuine. You think it a curiosity—5 dollars, no other bidder. Sold to the Standard."

Lot 5.—This is a piece of the pipe broken in the Atrocian brewery sheep, an interesting relique of scientific society. But Mr Lolong, surely you can't put it in your Album you want it for the Acclimation society, very good; 3 dols. sold.

Lot 6.—The Chasc-una railway concession—will no kind charitable Englishman take it off our hands? Sold! and is all we ask—not one. Hallo, Domingnez, you must mend this before offering it to the public again. (With-drawn.)

Lot 7.—A bundle of replies from the camp-municipalities, to Dr Aco-ta's circular to find out their weight in waste-paper. (Mr. Davis of the water-scheme takes them on spec)"

"Lot 8.—Bundle of newspaper-cases—these articles are of historic note, having belonged to public officials who went as far as S. Nicolas in the last campaign. Dr. Dominguez you will want them for the Museum, beside your fossils. Sold 11 dollars 4 reals."

"Lot 9.—3 ink bottles, belonging to as many clerks. Some are slightly injured from having been thrown across the room, but they contain many valuable ideas which remained as we say in the interno. Mr Parody, you said 25 dollars, but the English seminary entitled you; sold 28 dollars."

"Lot 10.—This is a complete file of the Tribunal, [25 copies] containing the famous "inchero" articles, and the new letters of "an absent Irish" who is spending time in Paris as Con Gen. Mr Covert 50 dollars. Snr. Marmol 60 dollars. Sold again, and the money paid."

"Lot 11.—Several bank-checks, gas and W. railway reports, and returns of the Beneficence society. The lot is offered for benefit of the Foundling-house. Mr Maxwell, these would in perhaps useful in the Sala de Commercio,—going, going, gone—10 dollars."

So saying the Stockin trade of the disconsolate Jew was purchased for 212 dollars 4 reals, and it would seem that the profits of the post year's labors were very small. Some unkind fellow has since run off with the ex-Minister's hat, and the brass candlestick, leaving his ex Excellency to seek the obscurity of his unassisted residence. Needless Snr. Dominguez makes a present of his history to the porter, and begs him not to put any appendix. The ex-Cover has gone into his coach and calls the driver togo to Jericho, for the c mody is layed out, and the curtain has fallen.

DIVINES IN A DILEMMA.

Business people care little about Theology, and our English public may reckon ourselves as more insipid than the Scotch Presbyterians of the Siglo of Montevideo voices a question altogether interesting to Astronomers, Casuists, Philosophers, and Christians in general. The reformers which Protestantism has sorely agitated in the earlier ages about the celebration of Easter, and some have either ally laboured to shew that the Jewish Passover was a type of the Christian passover on the same day as the Jews, Snr. Dominguez finding a blank at the entrance, inviting ladies and gentlemen to step in while the National banner is substituted by a white flag—"selling off, great sacrifice." A collection of ink bottles, mate-cups, cigar-cases, manuscripts and old newspapers is offered, and those who covet articles of great historic reliques, or celebrated autographs, eagerly hang on the lips of the gentleman-at-high position whose bat, supported a brass-candlestick, would assuredly brow reveals an artistic arrangement of the capillary attraction of the Progress of Law.

186—Calle Cuyo—186

Herr E. Krause has much pleasure to announce to the public that he has opened a new establishment, which is found superior to every other made. It secures immobile itself to the gums and palate and is perfectly cool, which requires no syringe. A set of teeth in rubber, after two days, serves for mastication, speaking and smiling. Calle Cuyo 186.

My collection of artificial teeth is very fine, and cannot be distinguished from a natural set. I will also clean and repair teeth.

I have a number of instruments for extracting roots of teeth, all of the finest, giving the sum with gold, silver, &c., and I guarantee for a number of years.
